

3.1

Descriptive adjectives

Tutorial

ANTE TODO

Adjectives are words that describe people, places, and things. In Spanish, descriptive adjectives are used with the verb ser to point out characteristics such as nationality, size, color, shape, personality, and appearance.

Forms and agreement of adjectives

COMPARE &amp; CONTRAST

In English, the forms of descriptive adjectives do not change to reflect the gender (masculine/feminine) and number (singular/plural) of the noun or pronoun they describe.

Juan is nice.Elena is nice.They are nice.

In Spanish, the forms of descriptive adjectives agree in gender and/or number with the nouns or pronouns they describe.

Juan es simpático.

Elena es simpática.

Ellos son simpáticos.

- Adjectives that end in -o have four different forms. The feminine singular is formed by changing the -o to -a. The plural is formed by adding -s to the singular forms.

- Adjectives that end in -e or a consonant have the same masculine and feminine forms.

- Adjectives that end in -or are variable in both gender and number.

AYUDA

Many adjectives are cognates, that is, words that share similar spellings and meanings in Spanish and English. A cognate can be a noun like profesor or a descriptive adjective like interesante.

ATENCIÓN!

Note that joven takes an accent in its plural form. Los jóvenes estudian mucho.

- Use the masculine plural form to refer to groups that include males and females.

Manuel es alto.

Lola es alta.

Manuel y Lola son altos.

Common adjectives

alto/a	tall	gordo/a	fat	mucho/a	much; many;
antipático/a	unpleasant	grande	big	pelirrojo/a	a lot of red-haired
bajo/a	short ( in height )	guapo/a	good-looking	pequeño/a	small
bonito/a	pretty	importante	important	rubio/a	blond(e)
bueno/a	good	inteligente	intelligent	simpático/a	nice; likeable
delgado/a	thin	interesante	interesting	tonto/a	foolish
difícil	difficult	joven	young	trabajador(a)	hard-working
fácil	easy	malo/a	bad	viejo/a	old
feo/a	ugly	mismo/a	same
		moreno/a	brunet(te)

Adjectives of nationality

- Unlike in English, Spanish adjectives of nationality are not capitalized. Proper names of countries, however, are capitalized.

Some adjectives of nationality

alemán, alemana	German	francés, francesa	French
argentino/a	Argentine	inglés, inglesa	English
canadiense	Canadian	italiano/a	Italian
chino/a	Chinese	japonés, japonesa	Japanese
costarricense	Costa Rican	mexicano/a	Mexican
cubano/a	Cuban	norteamericano/a	(North) American
ecuatoriano/a	Ecuadorian	puertorriqueño/a	Puerto Rican
español(a)	Spanish	ruso/a	Russian
estadounidense	from the U.S.

- Adjectives of nationality are formed like other descriptive adjectives. Those that end in -o change to -a when forming the feminine.

chino → china

mexicano → mexicana

The plural is formed by adding an -s to the masculine or feminine form.

argentino → argentinos

cubana → cubanas

- Adjectives of nationality that end in -e have only two forms, singular and plural.

canadiense → canadienses

estadounidense → estadounidenses

- To form the feminine of adjectives of nationality that end in a consonant, add -a.

alemán → alemana

español → española

japonés → japonesa

inglés → inglesa

ATENCIÓN!

Note that adjectives with an accent on the last syllable drop the accent in the feminine and plural forms.
inglés → inglesa
alemán → alemanes

Position of adjectives

- Descriptive adjectives and adjectives of nationality generally follow the nouns they modify.

El niño rubio es de España.
The blond boy is from Spain.

La mujer española habla inglés.
The Spanish woman speaks English.

- Unlike descriptive adjectives, adjectives of quantity precede the modified noun.

Hay muchos libros en la biblioteca.
There are many books in the library.

Hablo con dos turistas puertorriqueños.
I am talking with two Puerto Rican tourists.

- Bueno/a and malo/a can appear before or after a noun. When placed before a masculine singular noun, the forms are shortened: bueno → buen; malo → mal.

Joaquín es un buen amigo.
Joaquín es un amigo bueno. → Joaquín is a good friend.

Hoy es un mal día.
Hoy es un día malo. → Today is a bad day.

- When grande appears before a singular noun, it is shortened to gran, and the meaning of the word changes: gran = great and grande = big, large.

Don Francisco es un gran hombre.
Don Francisco is a great man.

La familia de Inés es grande.
Inés' family is large.

¡LENGUA VIVA!

Like bueno and grande, santo (saint) is also shortened before masculine nouns (unless they begin with To- or Do-): San Francisco, San José (but: Santo Tomás, Santo Domingo). Santa is used with names of female saints: Santa Bárbara, Santa Clara.

CONSULTA

To review the forms of ser, see Estructura 1.3, pp. 19–21.

Present tense of estar

Tutorial

ANTE TODO

In Lección 1, you learned how to conjugate and use the verb ser (to be). You will now learn a second verb which means to be, the verb estar. Although estar ends in -ar, it does not follow the pattern of regular -ar verbs. The yo form (estoy) is irregular. Also, all forms have an accented á except the yo and nosotros/as forms.

The verb estar (to be)

SINGULAR FORMS	yo	estoy	I am tú	estás	you (fam.) are

Forming questions in Spanish

ANTE TODO

There are three basic ways to ask questions in Spanish. Can you guess what they are by looking at the photos and photo captions on this page?

Te gusta mucho la tarea, ¿no?

¿Hablas con tu mamá?

¿Estudia Maru?

AYUDA

With a partner, take turns saying out loud the example statements and questions on this page. Your pitch indicates whether you are making a statement or asking a question. Then take turns making up statements of your own and turning them into questions, using all three methods.

- One way to form a question is to raise the pitch of your voice at the end of a declarative sentence. When writing any question in Spanish, be sure to use an upside-down question mark (¿) at the beginning and a regular question mark (?) at the end of the sentence.

Statement

Ustedes trabajan los sábados.
You work on Saturdays.

Carlota busca un mapa.
Carlota is looking for a map.

Question

¿Ustedes trabajan los sábados?
Do you work on Saturdays?

¿Carlota busca un mapa?
Is Carlota looking for a map?

- You can also form a question by inverting the order of the subject and the verb of a declarative statement. The subject may even be placed at the end of the sentence.

Statement

SUBJECT      VERB
Ustedes trabajan los sábados.
You work on Saturdays.

SUBJECT      VERB
Carlota regresa a las seis.
Carlota returns at six.

Question

VERB           SUBJECT
¿Trabajan ustedes los sábados?
Do you work on Saturdays?

VERB           SUBJECT
¿Regresa a las seis Carlota?
Does Carlota return at six?

- Questions can also be formed by adding the tags ¿no? or ¿verdad? at the end of a statement.

Statement

Ustedes trabajan los sábados.
You work on Saturdays.

Carlota regresa a las seis.
Carlota returns at six.

Question

Ustedes trabajan los sábados, ¿no?
You work on Saturdays, don't you?

Carlota regresa a las seis, ¿verdad?
Carlota returns at six, right?

Question words

Interrogative words

¿Adónde?	Where (to)?	¿De dónde?	From where?
¿Cómo?	How?	¿Dónde?	Where?
¿Cuál?, ¿Cuáles?	Which?; Which one(s)?	¿Por qué?	Why?
¿Cuándo?	When?	¿Qué?	What?; Which?
¿Cuánto/a?	How much?	¿Quién?	Who?
¿Cuántos/as?	How many?	¿Quiénes?	Who (plural)?

- To ask a question that requires more than a yes or no answer, use an interrogative word.

¿Cuál de ellos estudia en la biblioteca?
Which of them studies in the library?

¿Adónde caminamos?
Where are we walking (to)?

¿Cuántos estudiantes hablan español?
How many students speak Spanish?

¿Por qué necesitas hablar con ella?
Why do you need to talk to her?

¿Dónde trabaja Ricardo?
Where does Ricardo work?

¿Quién enseña la clase de arte?
Who teaches the art class?

¿Qué clases tomas?
What classes are you taking?

¿Cuánta tarea hay?
How much homework is there?

- When pronouncing this type of question, the pitch of your voice falls at the end of the sentence.

¿Cómo llegas a clase?
How do you get to class?

¿Por qué necesitas estudiar?
Why do you need to study?

- Notice the difference between ¿por qué?, which is written as two words and has an accent, and porque, which is written as one word without an accent.

¿Por qué estudias español?
Why do you study Spanish?

¡Porque es divertido!
Because it's fun!

- In Spanish no can mean both no and not. Therefore, when answering a yes/no question in the negative, you need to use no twice.

¿Caminan a la universidad?
Do you walk to the university?

No, no caminamos a la universidad.
No, we do not walk to the university.

CONSULTA

You will learn more about the difference between qué and cuál in Estructura 9.3, p. 316.

iINTÉNTALO!

Make questions out of these statements. Use the intonation method in column 1 and the tag ¿no? method in column 2.

Statement

Present tense of tener and venir

ANTE TODO

The verbs tener (to have) and venir (to come) are among the most frequently used in Spanish. Because most of their forms are irregular, you will have to learn each one individually.

The verbs tener and venir

	tener	venir
SINGULAR FORMS	yo tú Ud./él/ella	tengo tienes tiene	vengo vienes viene
PLURAL FORMS	nosotros/as vosotros/as Uds./ellos/ellas	tenemos tenéis tienen	venimos venís vienen

- The endings are the same as those of regular -er and -ir verbs, except for the yo forms, which are irregular: tengo, vengo.
- In the tú, Ud., and Uds. forms, the e of the stem changes to ie, as shown below.

INFINITIVE	VERB STEM	VERB FORM
tener	ten-	tú tienes Ud./él/ella tiene Uds./ellos/ellas tienen
venir	ven-	tú vienes Ud./él/ella viene Uds./ellos/ellas vienen

¿Tienes una familia grande, Marissa?

No, tengo una familia pequeña.

AYUDA

Use what you already know about regular -er and -ir verbs to identify the irregularities in tener and venir.

- 1) Which verb forms use a regular stem? Which use an irregular stem?
- 2) Which verb forms use the regular endings? Which use irregular endings?

- Only the nosotros and vosotros forms are regular. Compare them to the forms of comer and escribir that you learned on page 96.

tener*comer*venir*escribir nosotros/as vosotros/as tenemos

tenéis

comemos
coméis

venimos
venís

escribimos
escribís

- In certain idiomatic or set expressions in Spanish, you use the construction tener + [noun] to express to be + [adjective]. This chart contains a list of the most common expressions with tener.

Expressions with tener

tener... años	to be... years old	tener (mucha) prisa	to be in a (big) hurry
tener (mucho) calor	to be (very) hot	tener razón	to be right
tener (mucho) cuidado	to be (very) careful	no tener razón	to be wrong
tener (mucho) frío	to be (very) cold	tener (mucha) sed	to be (very) thirsty
tener (mucho) hambre	to be (very) hungry	tener (mucho) sueño	to be (very) sleepy
tener (mucho) miedo (de)	to be (very) afraid/scared (of)	tener (mucha) suerte	to be (very) lucky

—Tienen hambre ustedes?
Are you hungry?

—Sí, y tenemos sed también.
Yes, and we're thirsty, too.

- To express an obligation, use tener que (to have to) + [infinitive].

—Qué tienes que estudiar hoy?
What do you have to study today?

—Tengo que estudiar biología.
I have to study biology.

- To ask people if they feel like doing something, use tener ganas de (to feel like) + [infinitive].

—Tienes ganas de comer?
Do you feel like eating?

—No, tengo ganas de dormir.
No, I feel like sleeping.

Lección 3

► Spanish speakers often omit subject pronouns because the verb endings indicate who the subject is. In Spanish, subject pronouns are used for emphasis, clarification, or contrast.

—¿Qué enseñan?
What do they teach?

—Ella enseña arte y él enseña física.
She teaches art, and he teaches physics.

—¿Quién desea trabajar hoy?
Who wants to work today?

—Yo no deseo trabajar hoy.
I don't want to work today.

The verb gustar

► Gustar is different from other -ar verbs. To express your likes and dislikes, use the expression (no) me gusta + el/la + [singular noun] or (no) me gustan + los/las + [plural noun]. Note: You may use the phrase a mí for emphasis, but never the subject pronoun yo.

Me gusta la música clásica.
I like classical music.

Me gustan las clases de español y biología.
I like Spanish and biology classes.

A mí me gustan las artes.
I like the arts.

A mí no me gusta el programa.
I don't like the program.

► To talk about what you like and don't like to do, use (no) me gusta + [infinitive(s)]. Note that the singular gusta is always used, even with more than one infinitive.

No me gusta viajar en autobús.
I don't like to travel by bus.

Me gusta cantar y bailar.
I like to sing and dance.

► To ask a friend about likes and dislikes, use the pronoun te instead of me. Note: You may use a ti for emphasis, but never the subject pronoun tú.

—¿Te gusta la geografía?
Do you like geography?

—Sí, me gusta. Y a ti, ¿te gusta el inglés?
Yes, I like it. And you, do you like English?

► You can use this same structure to talk about other people by using the pronouns nos, le, and les. Unless your instructor tells you otherwise, only the me and te forms will appear on test materials until Lección 7.

Nos gusta dibujar. (nosotros)
We like to draw.

Nos gustan las clases de español e inglés. (nosotros)
We like Spanish class and English class.

No le gusta trabajar.
(usted, él, ella)
You don't like to work.
He/She doesn't like to work.

Les gusta el arte.
(ustedes, ellos, ellas)
You like art.
They like art.

iATENCIÓN!

Note that gustar does not behave like other -ar verbs. You must study its use carefully and pay attention to prepositions, pronouns, and agreement.

AYUDA

Use the construction a + [name/pronoun] to clarify to whom you are referring. This construction is not always necessary.

A Gabriela le gusta bailar.

A Sara y a él les gustan los animales.

A mí me gusta viajar.
¿A ti te gustan las clases?

CONSULTA

For more on gustar and other verbs like it, see Estructura 7.4, pp. 246–247.

¡INTÉNTALO!

Provide the present tense forms of these verbs. The first items have been done for you.

4.1

Present tense of ir

ANTE TODO The verb ir (to go) is irregular in the present tense. Note that, except for the yo form (voy) and the lack of a written accent on the vosotros form (vais), the endings are the same as those for regular present tense -ar verbs.

The verb ir (to go)

Singular forms

yo	voy
tú	vas
Ud./él/ella	va

Plural forms

nosotros/as	vamos
vosotros/as	veis
Uds./ellos/ellas	van

- Ir is often used with the preposition a (to). If a is followed by the definite article el, they combine to form the contraction al. If a is followed by the other definite articles (la, las, los), there is no contraction.

$$\mathbf{a + el = al}$$

Voy al parque con Juan.
I'm going to the park with Juan.

Mis amigos van a las montañas.
My friends are going to the mountains.

- The construction ir a + [infinitive] is used to talk about actions that are going to happen in the future. It is equivalent to the English to be going + [infinitive].

Va a leer el periódico.
He is going to read the newspaper.

Van a pasear por el pueblo.
They are going to walk around town.

¡Voy a ir con ellos!

Ella va al cine
y a los museos.

- Vamos a + [infinitive] can also express the idea of let's (do something).

Vamos a pasear.
Let's take a walk.

¡Vamos a comer!
Let's eat!

¡INTÉNTALO!
